OPENING PRAYER—INVOCATION	Karen Klaus
*GOSPEL READING: John 15:4-5	Sharon Feichtenbiner
*PRAISE CHORUS: UMH 334	Sweet, Sweet Spirit
*CALL TO WORSHIP	Janet Helmbold
L: God has given people many gifts. Especially valuable are the fruits of the Spirit, which include love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control. Seek to develop these gifts especially.
P: Many of us have one or two of these gifts, but to have them all seems impossible. Which are the most important for us to cultivate?
L: All are important. Use the gifts you have in abundance, and work on those which you have in modest amounts, giving them more attention, since they are the ones which will be most difficult for you to use.
P: How do we do this?
L: Work on them by using them and attending to what you are doing. For example, if you tend to be impatient, deliberately practice being patient whenever you begin to feel impatient. Even if practice may not make perfect, it can result in improvement. Above all, be patient with yourself when you fall short of your goal.
P: O Lord, thank You for the many gifts of the Spirit which You have give us. Remind us to use those gifts, and guide us as we try to develop those in which we seem lacking.
